

ART WEEK 2019 - THIS IS ME

Dear Parents,

With Art Week nearly upon us I am writing to update you on our plans.

As you know we will be focussing our week on Uniqueness and each class will be busy creating weird and wonderful sculptures, self-portraits and much more.

We have been keen to develop an area for children to enjoy and be calm and thoughtful and we are hoping to re-launch Finlay's garden with a view to fulfilling this wish. We have been putting lots of plans together over the TD-days with a thought to developing and enhancing our outdoor learning next year and Miss Beeson has been extremely busy clearing and smartening up the garden and it is looking fantastic.

We will be making the pond safe so that children will be able to use the space during playtimes and with this in mind we thought this would be a perfect place for our pebble pathway.

Each child will paint a pebble in class time and we were hoping parents might like to get involved too. We will set up a pop up painting area on the playground on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday afterschool if any parents, or other members of our school community, would like to paint one too.

Please drop by if you would like to get involved.

Mrs Burley will be planting some bulbs in the garden too next week and would be happy for anyone to come along help her with that. She will be there from 2pm on Tuesday afternoon (weather permitting).

If you have any newspaper, long tubes, bubblewrap or litre bottles (we only need a couple of these not the scale of last year!) we would love to have them to build our sculptures from.

Our celebration assembly, where we show off all of our creations will begin at 2.15pm on Friday.

Don't forget it is likely to get messy next week so please make sure your child has an art shirt or apron in school.

and finally... I am still looking for help with clearing a path and laying the completed pebbles so do please contact me if you can help me at all!

Many thanks

Mrs Barratt
